MISSION STATEMENT

Enriched by our diversity, the Center Moriches School District, in partnership with parents and the community, strives to provide a supportive, nurturing, and innovative learning environment. Our aim is to develop in young people a love of learning, self confidence, and respect for others. We seek to promote critical thinking and individual excellence for all students through academic achievement, physical and emotional wellness, and social responsibility.

OUR HISTORY

Nestled along the Moriches Bay on the South shore of Eastern Long Island is the small community of Center Moriches. Steeped in history and tradition, Center Moriches has been able to maintain the small town feel that so many communities on Long Island have lost. The history of the area, the character of the people and the strong sense of community pride all play important roles in the successful education of the students of Center Moriches.

OUR SCHOOLS

For over 100 years, the Center Moriches School District has been the focal point for generations of residents. The district is made up of Clayton Huey Elementary School, named after former Superintendent Clayton Huey, and Center Moriches Middle School and High School, which share a building. With approximately 1530 students, including Kindergarten through 12th grade students from the Unkechaug Nation, high school students from neighboring East Moriches, as well as special education students from various schools in Suffolk County, Center Moriches has successfully been able to offer a wide array of educational opportunities, while maintaining the individual attention students get from a small school.
